THIRD TERM TALK VERY LOUD.

Great Outbreak on Return of The President.

Washington, Oct. 25.—President Roosevelt's return to Washington has been the signal for a violent outbreak of third term talk. Practically every public man who called at the White House yesterday gave vent to a third term boom for the President. Upon departure Governor Hoch of Kansas and Senator McCumber of North Dakota both declared themselves strenuously in favor of the re-nomination of President Roosevelt on the ground that the logic of the situation demanded it. Senator Warner of Missouri, who plays close to the administration in all things, spoke highly of both the President and Secretary Taft and indicated that Missouri's delegates to the next national convention would be administrative men throughout. He said all factional opposition to this programme has now been eliminated. The general trend of the political situation is becoming a source of worry to some of the other presidential candidates who fear the almost unanimous demand for re-nomination of the President may seriously affect their chances. Word has reached the capital that four western states which will hold their state convention early next year, will in all probability endorse the President for a third term. These states have been counted confidently by one or another of the other candidates.

NINE MEN WENT DOWN

In One of Worst Sea Accidents of Season

WAS OFF GEORGE'S BANKS

Fishing Schooner Clara G. Silvia Lost Nearly All Her Crew Who Were Out In Dories When a Squall Separated them.

Boston, Oct. 25.—In one of the worst accidents of the season, the fishing schooner Clara G. Silvia lost nine of her crew last Monday on George's Banks. The men were out in dories when a squall separated them from the ship. A storm came up suddenly after the squall struck and for several hours the seas ran so heavily that it seemed impossible that a dory could keep afloat. The schooner Frances Marquitta, which arrived at T. wharf yesterday, picked up two of the men in time to save them. What became of the other nine may never be known. The men were rescued by Captain Joe Masquitta were Emanuel Corry and Frank Silva.

The schooner Silvia, from which the men were lost, has remained out on the Banks cruising up and down ever since Monday, engaged in an effort to find the others of her missing crew. The Silvia lost eight of her men off the Cape shore under similar circumstances last spring.

FARMER MURDERED.

Found Dead By His Sister Near Rochester.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Robbery is supposed to be the motive for the murder of John Smart, a farmer, whose body, with a gaping wound in the throat, was discovered by his sister in his home near Caledonia, shortly before 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

Smart was about 50 years old. Recently, he sold the mineral rights of his property to a gypsum company for $9,000, and the report was that the greater part of the money was kept in his home. He was last seen alive about the place three days ago.

SCHOOL GIRLS' CRIME.

Jessie, She Shoots Suitor Dead, Then Kills Herself.

Shamokin, Pa., Oct. 25.—Because Miss Lucy Doughton, leader of the high school sophomore class here, imagined that William Klinger, a young man, was paying too much attention to another girl when Miss Doughton thought he was in love with her, she shot him dead in front of her parents' home Wednesday night, then shot and killed herself.

IRISHMAN IN VIENNA.

William O'Brien, M. P. Tells of the "Clean Garden City."

"The Viennese have a gracious way of addressing an honored correspondent as 'Well-born Sir,' which describes better than anything else I can think of," writes Mr. William O'Brien, M. P., in the London Tribune. "The impression made by their capital city upon one untroubled with the splendid splendor of the East and returning with reluctant steps to the vulgar rush and tumble of the West.

"Vienna is above all things 'Wohlboren'—beautiful of form, gentle of speech, modest of mien, equally rich in the ancient medieval courtesies and in the most recent scientific achievements of a city of intellectuals—a sober, clean, and a half strong, without the grime of London, the false glitter of Paris, the self assertiveness of Berlin or the colossal discomforts of New York.

"The reason why, as few globe trotters have discovered, Vienna is one which perhaps, 'doesn't advertise.' On the kiosques of the Opern-ring—sites for which an American soup-knife would give a fortune—the placards announce a dog show were shimmering placidly a fortnight after the Mount St. Bernard and dachshunds had been scattered to the four winds. Nobody was in any hurry to cover them with some fresh-flaming panegyric of the virtues of a new pill. The fact is typical of life in the Austrian capital.

"In London, for all the softness of the pavement, your very soul is stunned with the roar of traffic. In places like the Champs Elysees and the Grand Boulevards, if the noise is less boisterous, the danger of crossing a street amid the whirl of four-fold flying columns of automobiles, beats on the eardrums of the foot-passenger is all but as severe a tax upon eyes, ears, limbs, and nerves as crossing the line of fire on a battlefield. In Vienna you need scarcely interrupt the reading of a newspaper in crossing most of the streets, and even in the most crowded you have no more apprehension of being knocked down by the magnificent policeman who superintends operations.

"Vienna is by no means a dead city. Its broad thoroughfares are alive with traffic. An assured prosperity shines upon you from the shop windows, from its range of solid six-storyed streets, from the tasteless mansions and tranquil countenances of those who fill them. It is simply that Vienna has not been caught by the world mania for breaking the record, but in the shades of her schools, and to the music which is as her breath of life, leads a peaceful self-sufficient life of her own, full of courteous deference for the feelings of others, very little, if at all, tortured by those ambitions for wealth and hurry and brute supremacy by which most of the nations of men are racked, but very really and truly captivated by the most unworldly interests of the intellect and the soul which are so much out of date as the god Pan with the world of record-breakers and inconceivable. Defeat in the field has perhaps a civilizing influence of its own.

GALLERY PLAYS.

Tributed to The National Department of Justice.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Delegates to the National Civic Federation convention yesterday were eagerly discussing remarks made at the meeting of Wednesday night by Charles G. Dawes, ex-comptroller of the currency.

Mr. Dawes made a sharp attack upon the federal department of justice, virtually charging the office of the attorney general with making "gallery plays." He said in part:

"I cannot say that it is intentional on the part of the department of justice, but some of its actions look remarkably as if favoritism was being displayed in the selection of the combinations to be investigated and in the manner of attack.

"It is inevitable that the man who does things in the public eye, and in the public eye, will win publicity. It is remarkable that the cases handled by the department of justice always are tried in the newspapers before they get into the courts.

The speaker also criticized the magazine writers, who, he said, made a practice of attacking the men who accomplished great things in the mercantile and financial world.

HUGHES GAINS IN IOWA

Because He Is Not Seeking Nomination

IN CONCERTED MOVEMENT

Tate Has Many Friends In That State and Some of Them Are Actively at Work to Secure Delegates For Him.

Washington, Oct. 25.—The sentiment of the people of Iowa in favor of the nomination of Governor Hughes of New York for the presidency has been very much enhanced in the last month," said former representative John F. Lacey of Oskaloosa. Since his defeat for reelection to the house a year ago Mr. Lacey has been prominently mentioned as a candidate to succeed Governor Cummings and also for congress from his old district. When asked as to his candidacy he said he had not taken the matter seriously, and was simply attending to his law practice.

"The principal source of the strength of Governor Hughes in Iowa is that he is not in any sense a candidate," continued Mr. Lacey. "It is refreshing to the people to see a governor of a great state attending strictly to the duties of his office, without at the same time attempting to point out to the country what should be done in national affairs. People believe that if Governor Hughes were promoted to a higher office he would attend to his business in the same way. So far as I know, there has been no attempt to build up organized strength in the State of Iowa for Governor Hughes. It is better that there is not, for he gains far more in public estimation. There is no doubt, however, that the people of Iowa would like to see President Roosevelt renominated. I think the contest lies between Secretary Taft and Governor Hughes. Mr. Taft has many friends in the state, and some of them are active in the effort to secure delegates for him."

HELD UP BY GYPSIES.

Attempt Made to Rob Driver of a Meat Cart at Whiting.

Middlebury, Oct. 25.—It has just leaked out that Alec McTott, who runs a meat cart in the rural district, was the victim of an attempted highway robbery last Friday night near Whiting. It was shortly after dark when McTott came upon a band of Gypsies who had been camping in the vicinity for some days. Their cart was placed across the road. When McTott saw the position of the wagon he brought the horse to a halt. He had no sooner done so than two men sprang out of the darkness, one seizing his horse by the head while the other went to the back of the wagon and tried to open the doors of the case where he kept the meat.
